The Basic Analysis and Countermeasures of the “ Mourning Culture” of College Students

HAO Jiajing JIN Ziyu

School of Marxism Northeast Forestry University Harbin Heilongjiang 150040 China

Abstract The “mourning culture” of college students is one of the manifestations of youth subcultures. The prominent contradictions in China’s social transition period the rise of post-modernist ideological trends the rapid development of media technology and the pursuit of emotional release by college students are the realistic foundations for the “mourning culture” of college students. Although the influence of “mourning culture” on college students is not all negative it may still cause college students to breed a pessimistic attitude toward life confusion of political beliefs and social psychology of negative decadence. Aiming at the phenomenon of “mourning culture” of college students it is necessary to create reasonable ascent channels and vent channels for college students promote the core values of socialism and provide humane care to college students to promote their all-round development.
